

SPRAY TAN

Aftercare

Initial colour

The initial colour you are seeing is a guide colour only and must be rinsed off in the shower. The tanning ingredient is a clear liquid and will develop between 4-8 hours and will continue to develop for up to 24 hours after application. If you do not rinse at your recommended time your tan may be too light or too dark.

Showering

Do not use loofas or wash cloths Tan is water based, the longer you spend in the shower, the quicker it removes from the skin. Quick shower in and out and pat skin dry with a towel. Use only a gel based shower gel. Checkout my "shower 101" instagram highlight for more tips and tricks. Swimming & Hot tubs will remove your tan at an accelerated pace.

No No's until first rinse

Any contact with water/sweat/moisture. Showering, doing dishes, exercise, rain, spilling drinks, crying, doggy kisses, tight clothing, heavy bag straps, skin on skin contact, rubbing, applying make up. All of these will remove the tan, you will be left with white marks/streaks

Face

As the face is the first area to lose colour due to its composition, you may wish to purchase a facial tanner to refresh the colour for the duration of your tan, I have an all natural face tanning water available exclusively at Tancouver imported from Ireland.

Moisturize

Everyday after your appointment with a recommended moisturizer (oil and alcohol free work best) Tan removes as your skin naturally flakes off, keeping your skin hydrated will make it last longer and ensure an even fade off.

With correct aftercare your tan can last anywhere from 6-10 days depending on your activities and skin type. Thank you for choosing Tancouver and I hope to see you again soon!
